

The Underpants Adaptation by Steve Martin
Sept 21– October 14, 2018

Imagine getting caught in public with your skirt blown over your head and nothing but your bloomers on display for all to see. That's the premise of Carl Sternheim's classic German play set in 1910. But when comic genius, Steve Martin, takes the story and runs with it, you get a fall-on-the-floor satirical send-up of Bourgeois conservatism, that'll keep you giggling for days.

Twist of the Magi by Debra Rich Gettlemen

Nov 30 – December 23, 2018

Back by popular demand, it's a new twist on last season's crowd-pleasing holiday hit "Twist of the Magi." Make it a holiday tradition to roar at this funny, fractured version of O'Henry's classic tale, "Gift of the Magi." Set in a 1940's radio studio as a live on-air broadcast and featuring the tuneful trilogy, "The Twisted Sisters," this farcical comedy is the perfect holiday recipe for the whole family!

Sell outs likely so get your tickets early!

Mystery Play

Feb 1 – 24, 2019

Stonehenge. The lost city of Atlantis. Bigfoot. There are a lot of compelling mysteries in the universe. But none of them can compare to our upcoming announcement this September when we divulge the secret title of our February 2019 comedy. All we can say is that it's worth waiting for! Trust the Phoenix Theatre to bring you the most exciting and hilarious comedy theatre in the country.

Ripcord by David Lindsay-Abaire
Mar 29– Apr 20, 2019

Marilyn is a garrulous optimist who insists she never gets angry. Abby's a misanthropic loner who's afraid of nothing. Forced to room together in their retirement home, these two adversaries wager over who moves out and who gets the bed by the window. When their slightly sadistic practical jokes propel them into a skydiving challenge, they learn something about grabbing life and living fully that most people half their ages never understand.

Women in Jeopardy by Wendy Macleod

May 24–Jun 16, 2019

Divorcées Mary and Jo think their best friend Liz's new beau, Jackson, is a serial killer. When Jackson announces plans to take Liz's 19-year-old daughter, Amanda, on a camping expedition, Mary and Jo snap into FBI mode to apprehend the evil ruffian. The wild plot and slapstick antics lead the quirky cast into the red rocks of Southern Utah on a journey that will leave you laughing and prove that nothing is ever as simple as it appears to be.

What Do I Need To Know?

We're making changes at The Phoenix! You've seen our beautiful new logo. Now, get ready for our new show time and high-tec theatre lighting thanks to a generous grant from the Hazel Miller Foundation.

Hazel Miller
FOUNDATION

These changes are being implemented to create the best theatrical experience for you, our valued patrons.

Starting with our 11th Season, curtain-time will begin at 7:30 PM on Friday and Saturday Nights. Please note this on your calendar.

In addition, we are changing the way we process our season subscriptions. If you have purchased season passes with the theatre for two or more seasons and you wish to remain in your existing seats, we will be processing your season subscriptions first. You must have your season subscription order in no later than June 15, 2018 to qualify. After these subscriptions are processed, we will assign seats to newer subscribers on a first come/first serve basis.

Please help us in this process by choosing your first choice weekend and an alternate weekend to attend. Opening and closing weekends are great options for availability and fun!

Please be advised: By sticking with the same night and weekend for each show, you are more likely to get your first choice of seat selection.
